Virtual Event to Feature 15+ Sessions

NAPERVILLE, ILL., June 15, 2021 – In the last year, the pandemic and racial justice movement have opened employers' eyes to new possibilities and priorities. Embracing this transformative time, the Content & Connectivity Human Resources association (C2HR) set the theme for its 2021 signature event, the C2HR CON, as "The Future of Work: Vision for the Next Normal." The virtual event is August 10-13, and sessions will focus on 8 key areas:

- Remote work & global mobility
- Culture and employee engagement
- Diversity, equity, inclusion and justice (DEIJ)
- Learning & development
- Analytics & performance management
- Recruitment & onboarding
- Employment law
- Mental health and wellness

The program, featuring nearly 20 sessions, is being developed by a committee of industry human resources professionals. The co-chairs are C2HR President Dave Crossen, senior vice president of HR at NBCUniversal, and C2HR Vice President Julie Neimat, executive vice president of employee experience and HR operations at Discovery. The 2021 C2HR CON committee members are:

Victoria Alvarez, senior manager of global lifeworks & inclusion, Discovery Inc.

Angela Conklin, senior vice president of HR, Vyve Broadband

Peter Francoeur, senior HR business partner, ESPN

Jennifer Goad, senior director of EEO & regulatory compliance, Charter Communications

Priany Hadiatmodjo, director of the page program, NBCUniversal

Julie Jaksic, manager of curriculum development, Charter Communications

Brittany Moore, manager of learning & development, Discovery Inc.

Traron Moore, DBA, SPHR, people partner lead – corporate, WarnerMedia

Dionne Vernon, senior director of people & organizational planning at Comcast

Jennifer Znaniecki, senior director of learning & development, Mediacom Communications

Online registration is live at www.C2HRCON.org. Any companies interested in sponsoring the event should contact Parthavi Das at pdas@c2hr.org or call 630.599.7120.
